Figure 1 consists of nine scatter plots arranged in a 3x3 grid, labeled A through I. Each plot shows the relationship between the number of children in the household (x-axis, 0 to 10) and the number of children in the school (y-axis, 0 to 10). Plot A shows a positive correlation, with points generally increasing from bottom-left to top-right. Plots B through I show various other patterns, including negative correlations and no clear trend.
